SPECIAL TAX ON MINING IS NOW BEING BOOSTED

The latest obstacle for the mining industry to hurdle is now being proposed by one of our state officials who is running for office again. Possibly a little tip to the gentleman that the miners now have an effective organization to fight any such spiffling proposals would bring about the desired result inasmuch as an election is in the offing.

The letter addressed to The Nugget is from the facile pen of A. S. Howe of Sutter Creek and is as follows:

Editor Nugget:

Recently a United Press article was published, stating that Mr. Vierling Kersey, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, is advocating severance taxes to raise more money for California schools. He proposes a income tax and a special tax on mines and minerals to benefit the schools.

In 1920, with the war taxes in force, the Federal government collected $5,400,000,000 in taxes. For this year, Federal taxes will amount to under $3,000,000,000, while the state and local taxes will be over $5,000,000,000.

Why is all this increase in state and county taxes? The most of the expense is for schools. In the smaller counties, the schools get 70% to 80% of the money raised by taxation. All classes of property are over-taxed; yet, the School Superintendents are clamoring for more money. Why have school expenses increased and multiplied out of proportion to population and to incme?

In California, the school buildings are valued by the State Controller at $357,487,450, and Mr. Kersey states that the yearly school expense approximates $150,000,000; more money is needed for education and that money should be taken from the mines.

As far as the gold mining industry is concerned, Mr. Kersey evidently is not aware of the mining situation. Last year, among the thousands of quartz mines in California, not more than two or three of the mines in operation paid a profit. Yet, every mine that worked benefited its community and the state by distributing a pay roll.

Gold mining has been taxed to death, and in addition to the property taxes, there is a special tax on industry for the welfare of workingmen. This is the Workmen's Compensation. The tax in California is about three times as high as in Canada and in most mining states. A mine in Newfoundland, with ore reserves estimated good for 40 years and with a $6,000,000 plant taxes 5% per cent of its net profits to pay all taxes except compensation insurance, which is covered by less than 1% per cent of the pay roll. In Canadian provinces, mining is prosperous because they give it a chance. The base mine rate in California is $9.42 per $1.00 of pay roll, and the insurance companies take 40% per cent of that amount for overhead costs of insurance.

These taxes take away all the profit on ordinary gold ores, and with the higher costs for labor and supplies, it is only a mine with exceptionally good ore that can make a profit. There are many mines and prospects working in the hope of finding profitable ore, but with a severance tax added to the burden, they would quit and gold mining will become mostly a thing of the past.

The counties collect taxes on mines and the most of such taxes go to the schools. The mines now pay more in proportion to their true value than is collected on real estate and on other property. Yet an active mine greatly benefits a community, while the real estate benefits only the owners. Kill off the operating mines and neighboring town property will greatly depreciate in value. The deficit in county valuations will have to be compensated by higher tax rates on other property.

What are we getting for the higher school costs? Is the high school graduate of today better educaatd than the groundwork and essentials than was his father or his grand father when they were high school graduates? Is the graduate of today better equipped to shift for himself? Is the higher school cost justified by the

STATE PRESS COMMENTS ON MINING ISSUE

The new special mining issue of The Nugget has been very favorably received by the press as evidenced by the following clippings.

Charles F. Spilman of Reno, publisher of the Nevada Mining Press and probably one of the best mining writers in the west, notes as follows in his current number:

NEVADA CITY NUGGET ISSUES MINING NUMBER

"Much valuable data and interesting information relating to the mines of Nevada and Sierra Counties, California, are contained in the special mining number of the Nevada City Nugget. A. A. Willoughby, publisher, has done a good job. The first quartz mine of California was discovered and developed at Grass Valley, three miles from Nevada City, in the early '50s and that district has been producing ever since. Probably the first "channel mines"—old river beds buried beneath lava flows—were found near Nevada City, which was the scene of large hydraulic operations years ago. At Downieville in Sierra county on the North Fork of the Yuba huge piles of washed gravel bear testimony to the prodigal days of '49, and every where are the dumps of old mines and new. It is an interesting, picturesque and productive country, unsurpassed any where in the Sierra Nevada mountains for scenery."

Editor Ayres of the Downieville Mountain Messenger has the following:

"The Nevada City Nugget published a special mining number May 16 containing writeups of the work being done at mines in Nevada and Sierra counties. A complete list of the names of members of the local chapter of the Mining Association of California, a directory of the mines of Nevada and Sierra counties, and articles pertaining to mines and mining in and about Nevada City complete the number."

The Mountain Democrat of Placerville, piloted by C. A. Barker, has a nice handout:

MINING ANNUAL OFF THE PRESS

"The annual Special Mining Edition of the Nevada City Nugget, a comprehensive review of the industry in Nevada and Sierra Counties, came off the press last week. The work is well-done and the information contained is such as should prove beneficial to the industry because it smacks of authority—not press-agentry."

Editor Warren E. Read of the Amador Dispatch, nicely expresses his sentiments as follows:

"The second annual Special Mining Number of the Nevada City Nugget is off the press and is now being distributed. It is a very creditable number of thirty-two pages and cover in tabloid form. The edition is well filled with articles intended for the promotion of the mining industry and as a large number of copies were printed it should have a far-reaching influence."

Editors generally have the reputation of begruding praise to a fellow publisher's special efforts, but this has been happily disproved in these instances and recognition of our efforts to get out a creditable edition is greatly appreciated.

MERRIMAC TO OPERATE PROPERTY SHORTLY

As a result of the development of rich shoots of ore on the Boreham ground at Town Talk by Los Angeles people, heirs of the late Colonel Stone, owner of the Merrimac Claim adjoining the Boreham on the west, are said to be making preparations toward equipping and opening this old property at an early date.

The Merrimac was opened in the '80s to a depth of 500 feet, but not much lateral development was done at the time. The vein is entirely in the Calaveras slates and has a dip of about 45 degrees toward the north; its strike being nearly east and west.

EDITOR A. A. WILLOUGHBY PASSES AWAY SUNDAY AT HOSPITAL

Editor Arthur A. Willoughby passed away yesterday afternoon at 3:45 at the Jones Memorial Hospital after a short illness. His death came as a severe shock to all who knew him. He had been ailing for some weeks, but the seriousness of his illness was not realized until Saturday, when he was rushed to the hospital, where everything possible was done for him.

Arthur Andrew Willoughby, son of Simon Andrew and Elva H. Willoughby, was born in Huron County, Ohio, September 25th, 1884. The family moved to Kansas when he was a small boy, where he was raised on a farm. His father died when he was ten years old, and from that time on he earned money in various odd jobs to help pay his living expenses.

Besides the rural school where he gained his early education he attended the Nickerson Normal School. Later the family moved to Hillsdale, Michigan, where Mr. Willoughby attended the Hillsdale College, graduating with the class of 1907. During his school career, he started work on the local paper and was manager of the college publication.

After graduation he went to Chicago then to Kansas in the automobile business. He came west in 1910, and traveled for several years for a mining publication. It was during one of his trips to visit one of the mines in this vicinity that he fell in love with this community, and the friendly people in it, and it was always his desire to locate here permanently. During the exposition here in 1915, he was connected with the publicity department of the P. P. I. E. and watched the exposition grow from the beginning of the building to the closing day.

He was married in 1916 to Elsie Peterson, a Mendocino County girl at Placerville, and to this union two children were born, Margaret Eleanor, aged 11, and Ralph Arthur, aged 6.

He was connected with various Mendocino and Sonoma County papers. He came to Nevada City in 1926, and in November of that year the first Nevada City Nugget was printed. The townspeople responded nobly to the cause, greatly to his satisfaction, and in a short time had gained a substantial subscription list, which has been growing steadily ever since.

He was supremely happy here in these surroundings, and always called it "God's Country." It was his desire to be laid to rest among the pines. Funeral arrangements were not made before going to press.

Fraternally he was a very active member being a Past Master of Sotoyome Lodge, No. 123 F. & A. M. of Healdsburg, California, and a member of Nevada Chapter R. A. M. and Past Master of King Solomon Council R. & S. M., and he was a member of Sotoyome Chapter O. E. S. and Nevada Lodge B. P. O. E. He was Vice Chancellor of Milo Lodge, No. 48 Knights of Pythias. He was District Deputy Grand Lecturer of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of the State of California, of which organization he was also Grand Correspondent. He also belonged to various Civic clubs, and he was Secretary of the local Chapter of the Mining Association of the State of California, and he was instrumental in getting the local chapter started. He was a devout member of the Episcopal Church, and was at one time a lay reader.

He had great belief in the future of Nevada County mines, and was one of their best boosters, and probably no other man in the County had his knowledge of the various mines. Advice and information was always freely and gladly given to the many who came into The Nugget office to make inquiries. His wife, Elsie Willoughby, who has been associated with him in the newspaper business, will carry on the policy of the papper. The support of the merchants is much appreciated.

NEVADA CITY BOYS IN BAD AUTO ACCIDENT

Three Nevada City boys had an automobile accident at 3 o'clock yesterday morning while returning from Auburn. Two Haddy boys and Thomas Hill skidded while turning out to pass a car, and the car went over the bank, turning over a number of times. Thomas Hill was the most severely hurt, suffering from a broken wrist and was badly bruised about the body. Dick Haddy was bruised and cut. The other Haddy boy escaped uninjured. The injured were rushed to the Jones Memorial Hospital and are being attended to there.

FOURTH OF JULY MEET

There will be an important meeting on Tuesday night to make the final arrangements for the big Fourth of July celebration to be held in Nevada City on July 3rd, 4th and 5th. Reports of the various committees will be made, and Chairman Davis urges that a large representative delegation be present and make this the grandest celebration of its kind ever held in this community.

GOOD PROGRESS IS BEING MADE AT HOGE MINES

The Hoge Development Company are making good progress in their development in the Blue Tent section, and are at present drifting upon two parallel veins that are showing up well for developing in to good ore bodies. The foot wall vein varies in width from 6 inhes hp to 2 feet, while the hanging wall vein is from four to twelve feet between the walls. They believe that the hanging wall vein is the downward extension of the rich ore body that they had in their pilot shaft, but on the account of a minor faulting that they ran in to on their 300 foot level, they are not sure about this. Consequently they are drifting ahead upon both veins at the same time, and are fully expecting to have as good ore body upon one or the other, and possibly both of these veins, within a shrt time.

They are at present averaging 14 feet per day in new development or an average of seven feet per day on each vein system, so they should reach their objective within the next ten or fifteen days. This company has an exellent equipment and good management, and the community is largely looking forward to seeing this company bring in another high grade producer.

What we need here are more producing mines and the entire community should boost every legitimate mining projet. Messrs Hoge, Van Loben Sells and Bettles are all to be commended from their sticktoitnevness and honest endeavor, as they are at present Nevada City's main supporters.

DIVOT PRODUCERS TAKE TO ROCK PILE

Memorial Day was a busy one for the divot brigade at the county golf course. The numerous rock piles in the rough have been very discouraging to sundry members of the club who have a penchant for keeping off the fairways with their hooks and slices. To ameliorate their condition the club is putting in some good licks on removing as many of the hazards as possible.

The Nevada City crew called to the colors consisted of Bill Wright, Fred Cassidy, Percy Carr and Arthur Hoge.

BUTTES SADDLE MINE PROMISING PRODUCER

One of the most promising producers of the Sierra City district in Sierra County at this time is the Buttes Saddle group of claims, one mile east of Sierra City and 425 feet higher than the town. The property is being worked under the direction of Messrs. Ball and Greaves of Los Angeles. It consists of over ten claims being taken over under bond from Mrs. Marie Phelan of this city.

The company are operating through a tunnel 800 feet in length and have at present an excellent shoot of ore with backs of nearly 400 feet to the surface.

The vein varies in thickness from 3 to 9 feet, is a fissure vein running almost east and west and has a dip of about 60 degrees north.

Another parallel vein system, owned by the same interests lies some 2000 feet further toward the north and the summit of the Buttes. Early developments on this vein also shows shoots of excellent stoping values and the company plans to exploit this vein through the same adit as the development progresses.

The company have erected a new and modern ten stamp mill which is operating on a three shift basis with Solon Chatfield of this city in charge. P. W. Callender is superintenlent in charge and Edw. C. Uren is consulting engineer for the company.

CARTER BROTHERS BOND

The Carter Brothers quartz properties at Missouri Canyon, near Relief Hill, have been bonded to Harrison Dibble of San Francisco, who has outlined the construction of a 400 foot cross cut tunnel to tap the vein. It is understood that work is to be commenced at once.

HIGHWAYS GETS ATTENTION OF GRAND JURORS

In the absence of any of our county civic bodies actively sponsoring the project, the county grand jury has come to the rescue of the Tahoe Ukiah state highway.

There have been disquieting rumors lately that completion of the route from the Junction House to he Victory highway might be indefinitely delayed, as much as eight years. This doubtless is largely due to the fact that there hasn't been any organized boosting going on in its behalf for quite a long time. It will be remembered that last year a banquet was served in Nevada City to the Highway Commission and other state officials and some pretty nuggets were distributed to the distinguished visitors but since then not much has been done to keep the pot boiling.

The grand jury has done a fine piece of work in getting action started once more on the completion of this vital link in what will be one of the heaviest traveled cross state highways in years to come.

The resolution is printed in full in another column.

Oiling Highway

The original contract of C. R. Adams for the building of the 11.7 mile section of the Tahoe route east from Nevada City included an oil coating. This was, however, later changed and a much heavier type of oil surfacing will be applied under state supervision, presumably the present year. Adams has applied a thick coating of gravel on the highway from his Deer Creek plant.

The Downieville highway, which was oiled last year, is to be given another coat at the present time, work commencing at Downieville and coming this way.

The Tahoe Ukiah route is being oiled west from Grass Valley to the Seven Mile House near Hammonton. Nothing has been done toward elimination of the notorious Pet Hill grade.

Supervisors Busy

Two road crews are busy in the seconl district under the direction of Supervisor Goudge. The new road from Higgins Corner westerly to the Dog Bar road and the McCourtney road are being scraped and graded at the present time.

Oiling of the road from Memorial park to the top of the Empire Hill is to be undertaken at once with new equipment recently purchased.

Supervisors Eddy, Dudley and Frank have all been busy getting work lined up on the roads in their districts in preparation of the summer season.

COZY CORNER CHAT

IT IS A SMALL WORLD after all, any way you look at it. During the Panama Pacific Exposition at San Francisco in 1915, The Nugget publisher was living down in the Mission district. His roommate was a young lawyer by the name of Robinson just ready to hang out his shingle. Recently in Sacramento this same young lawyer was installed as Vice Grand Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias and has just announced himself as a candidate for the office of Lieutenant Governor of California. Such are life's vagaries. Young Robinson was an ambitious chap and intensely interesting in playing the political game. His roommate hankered after literary pursuits and each have attained their ambitions, in part at least in a few years.

IT IS A PLEASURE to see the way the '49er idea is taking form in the coming celebration. It is to be hoped that the parade committee will let it be known that only old time stuff is wanted in the big parade and the modern dewdads left out, including autos. The more stage coaches and oldtime relics that can be trotted out the better and bigger success it will be. Why wouldn't it be nice to have the Grass Valley fire laddies get out one of their old hand pumpers and compete with one of our ancient rigs for a prize? It would be fine to have some rock drilling contests and it ought to be possible to have the government send up one of its mine rescue cars for dmonstration work. There are so many things that could be worked in to make our coming celebration one to be long remembered. Angels Camp recently staged its annual jumping contest and there wer 30,000 visitors on hand for the ceremonies, all to see the winning frog make a leap of nearly 13 feet, and how many were able to get close enough to actually see Mr. Froggie do his stuff?

REPORTS REACH OUR DESK at times of depredations committed at some our mining properties not being operated. The Camborne Hayle is said to be a particular sufferer, even the window frames being carted away wholesale. What a nice thing to contemplate while getting ready to reopen, to find a lot of the equipment missing. Nevada City long has had the reputation of being like many other mining towns, free from the menace of petty thievery. It is unfortunate if mining companies are going to have to remove their property to be able o find it when they want to reopen.

IT IS UNFORTUNATE that more of our business men are not back of the Lions Club, Nevada City's first and only service or luncheon club organization. As is customary at the outset, everybody was crazy to get in on the ground floor, but the inevitable sloughing off took place and but a mere handful of the faithful have been keeping the club going, in the hope that it might not be said of Nevada City that she was wedded to old ideals of community service and not keeping up to date. Newcastle and Colfax both have flourishing clubs and the business men generally are enuthsiastic in service club work with the result that both towns are up and coming. There is a large field here for a live service club and with the nucleus of the present membership to start with, things will hum if some of the earlier members will get into the harness again. Nevada City needs a service club to tie in with her other civic activities.

ISN'T IT INSPIRING to hear that succession of whistles starting off the day at seven each morning? It means the wheels of industry revolving in our community, producing payrolls that go into the marts of trade. We have a prosperous future ahead of us in Nevada City with our mining operations undr way and our turpentine refinery busy at work, as well as being the hub of transportation for a widespread territory. Then, too, there is much new blood seeping into our business district which is bound to have a broadening effect and teach us new ways of making Nevada City a better town to buy goods in.

Try Budget System When Landscaping

No longer does a home owner make actual use of only that part of his home grounds on which his house stands. The modern home embraces the entire lot, and assigns to every square foot of surface a function, useful or ornamental.

The owner who neglects to develop his grounds on this principle not only limits his own enjoyment of a property which has cost him plenty, but lessens its resale value, and why should he? Complete planting, according to a modern plan, may require more outlay than he cares to make in one year; but it is easily possible to spread the expenditure over several years on a budget system.

Of course, if one can plant all at once, one gets the enjoyment of well-planted grounds the sooner. But it is much easier to plant part at a time, than to build in that way. Gardens do not depreciate with years as buildings do. With intelligent care they grow more valuable, and newer plantings quickly mature into perfect harmony with the old.

Of course no planting can be done until the grounds are graded and the walks established. And there must be a definite visualization of the ultimate effect. This means a plan, in the mind or on paper, and it is safer on paper than in the mind. You may be competent to make this plan yourself, or you may obtain help from experts who are usually available.

Think out the successive steps to be taken according to the amount which can be expended each year. Mark out your shrub and flower beds and borders, and see that they have good soil of a proper depth. Then plan the location of your trees.

Trees and foundation planting may well be planted the first year. The trees need time to grow, and the foundation planting will help your house to fit into its surroundings. The lawn should be seeded and annuals sown the first year.

The second year you may plant the shrubbery masses which are to screen objectionable views, and put in the evergreens and other accent plants. Then shrubbery backgrounds for the borders may be planted, and in front of them perennials for the permanent garden picture. Later the architectural features can be added as the final touch to the garden picture.

Such a budget program will be found full of interest. As the planting develops, you may acquire a new conception of the complete development, perhaps, and desire to make changes, perhaps additions, to your plan. Do not hesitate to do so, for a garden is a growing thing. When we stop changing it we are apt to lose interest.

For front line or border planting especially, choose few varieties and plant more of them. The results will be more pleasing. Plant the taller things in the back of the border and with the lower growing ones alternating and the border plants in curves or groups. Never expect to get mass effect by straight-line planting.

FRENCH CORRAL ITEMS

Misses Minnie and Josie Mahoney of Spokane, Wash., who have been the guests of Mrs. K. Sullivan for the past two weeks, left Saturday morning for Marysville where after a short visit with friends they will return to their home in Spokane. After an absence of 13 years when they last visited their home town they have progressed rather than retrograded. With our state highway and good roads generally, auto traffic, radio, they think we are quite up to date. But leaving all else aside, have they found moonlight like French Corral moonlight.

Mrs. P. Nichols and sons, Chester, Arthur and Lewis and wife, and daughters, Mrs. E. Gallup and two little sons and Mrs. Ina Davis and son, all former residents, spent Sunday at the old home place. This family now resides in Sacramento.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Sweetland and daughter, Jean, anl Mr. J. Rounds of Colusa, spent Sunday with Mr. Sweetland's brother, Geo. L. Sweetland of this place. Mr. Sweetland was born in the goold old Ridge town of Sweetland, which by the way, took its name from his Uncle Chas. Sweetland who kept store there in the early '50s. At the tender age of six years he was bereft of mother, and was raised by friends in Colusa.

Rev. Father O'Rielly held services in the Catholic church at Birchville Sunday. He was accompanied by Floyd Penrose of Nevada City.

Dr. and Mrs. Byron of Tyler and Miss Coughlin of Columbia Hill were in attendance at the Sunday service.

Miss Irene Browning went to Pleasant Valley Monday to visit for a few days with her teacher, Mrs. Elsie Schwartz.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Bean are the guests of Mrs. K. Sullivan. Mr. and Mrs. Bean were former Ridgeites but for several years past have resided in San Francisco.

Joe Swazy and N. B. Bishop made a trip to Nevada City Tuesday.

Mr. A. Browning, who is now employed in Nevada City, visited his family in this place Monday.

Mrs. A. Browning and Miss Millie Clerkin made a trip to Nevada City Thursday.

W. P. Clerkin returned to his home in Birchville Wednesday.

Several droves of sheep and cattle passed through this week on their way to the mountains.

We are glad to note that a Cherry Carnival at San Juan is planned for next month.

The French Corral school which closes today along with Pleasant Valley and Newtown schools enjoyed a picnic at Bridgeport Resort Thursday afternoon.

It seems the expected 4th of July celebration and Reunion of ex-Ridgites, has also been called off and it was a great surprise to many of us to read in the Oakland Tribune of May 15th that the proposition had been turned down by the San Juan people, ? ? ? ?—

Again we mourn the passing of one of our promient citizens, George McCullough, who was born and raised in Sebastopol and was one of a pioneer family of that place, passed away at the Nevada City Sanitarium Saturday morning. His funeral which was largely attended took place Monday when his remains were laid to rest in the family plot at North San Juan. He will be sadly missed for he was a general favorite and beloved by all.

PLAN TO SALVAGE TIN FROM THE SEA

The tin mines of Cornwall, England, supposed to be pretty well worked out, are to be supplemented by dredging up the sands of the sea off the Cornwall coast.

Through the ages the fierce waves of the North Atlantic have been hammering at the rugged coasts of Cornwall and pulverizing the rocks to sand. On shore men have worked out the alluvial deposits and tin production has decreased by half. And now it is discovered that the sands under the sea are full of tin, sometimes as much as 10 per cent. So they have constructed a tunnel out under the waves at St. Ives and built a big concrete funnel into which the sandsuckers discharge the sand mixed with water to flow it down to the concentrating mill to separate the tin.

CHEWING GUM, LIKE POOR, EVER WITH US

A secure niche has been won in the category of derelicts by chewing gum. America spends upwards of $50,000,000 a year for this delicacy, the equivalent of 5,000,000,000 sticks or 75,000 miles of sweetened chicle—enough to send a ribbon around the moon.

Save in the case of tender infants, not much of it is swallowed. The great bulk finds its place somewhere under foot or hand; by preference under chairs in movie theaters, on the decks of excursion steamers, hiding coyly beneath the edges of tables in lunch rooms. I once lost a substantial section of a new Scotch tweed overcoat by virtue of a little remembrance on the straw seat of a subway train.

Another favorite temporary resting place is the floor of a dance hall. I say "temporary" advisedly; the 5,000,000,000 sticks are ever on the march. They know not what it means to die.—Stuart Chase in Harper's Magazine.

The Windy Bolsheviks

Dr. Joel T. Boone, President Hoover's physician, said in an interview in Philadelphia:

"Our wonderful prosperity has done away with the parlor bolshevik. The parlor bolshevik was very much in evidence in the past.

"I remember once, at a reception, the host was asked to come and quiet a crowd of parlor bolsheviks in the library. They were arguing so ferociously that a rough-and-tumble fight was feared.

"The host hurried to the library. He listened from the doorway for a minute to the bolsheviks' shrill, angry voices. Then he turned away.

"'Let us remember,' he said, 'that people who are all wind never come to blows.'"

First Auto Speeder?

Another record is shattered. A man named Auto Jim Quinn has long claimed the distinction of being the first man arrested in America for auto speeding. That was in 1905. Now comes along a statistician of the auto industry who says the honor should go to Thomas W. Shevlin, of Minneapolis, who was dragged into court in that city in 1902 and paid $10 for driving his auto more than ten miles an hour.

Fruits and Figures

"You can't divide apples by peaches or pears," lisped Harold bravely.

"Correct; go on," smiled the teacher.

"But you can add them," cried Harold, with a happy thought, "and—and make fruit salad."—Chicago Daily News.

Fishy

The Parana river in Brazil is full of fish that look like dogs.

In his "Cruise of the Falcon" E. F. Knight says:

"The fish we caught were all very fierce, biting everyhing they came across when landed on our deck, and barking like dogs."

Canadian Maple Sugar

In 1929 the total value of maple sugar and maple sirup produced in Canada was $6,118,656. The maple sugar output was 11,698,925 pounds, valued at $2,162,839. The quantity of maple sirup produced was 2,174,084 gallons, with a value of $3,955,817. The Province of Quebec is the leader of the industry in Canada.

"I said your ship would come in this week. Was I correct?"

"Well, partly. My salary was docked."

Clam Caught Heron

A heron observed for almost a week at Cape May, N. J., remained so motionless on one leg that fishermen thought it an example of the taxidermist's art placed at water's edge by a practical joker. It was not until clam diggers neared the spot that the long-necked fowl sought flight with weakly beating wings and it was found to be held captive by an immense clam firmly imbedded in hard sand.

The Stowaways

"Let's stow away on that air liner for America," suggested the would-be emigrant.

"Not that one," objected the other. "Tht captain always ties the stowaways to parachutes and drops them in Iceland."—Montreal New Goblin.

Soviet Salvage

The Soviet Union has been recovering from the bottom of the Black sea the metal parts of warships and merchantmen sunk at various places within the last twenty years. One harbor is expected to yield thousands of tons of useful metal.

ACCENTED WAISTLINE

Here we have one of the classic tailleurs of 1930, featuring the nipped-in waistline—very new and important—the double-breasted coat with notched collar, and gored, wrap-around skirt. This may be made up with smart effect in linen, shantung or piqué; and of course it would be good in sharkskin or cheviot.

The model of wool crêpe on the right features the Vionnet diagonal wrap-around closing, and skirt fulness from a belted waistline. The postilion cape has a soft fox border. This coat embodies in very detail the new feminine trend, which departs so radically from the mode of past seasons. It should, of course, completely cover the frock.

Cleanliness, but Hard on Rest of the Outfit

After a 12-day voyage we arrived at Brest, France, in July, 1918. We marched to the Pontanazan barracks that afternoon. Our outfit was assigned to two barracks, with a promise of a bath on Wednesday.

Water was very scarce there, and at each end of the barracks assigned to us was a barrel of water for drinking purposes.

I happened to get up about two o'clock in the morning and leave the barracks. On my return I saw Mike Connors in the barrel taking a bath. I told him that he should have known better, as the water was very scarce there. He said he knew that, but he really did need the bath and couldn't wait any longer.

"We'll drink out of the other barrel at the other end of the barracks, then," I commented.

"I got my clothes in that one," Mike assured me.—John J. Boyle in New York Telegram.

Horseshoe pitching tournaments were held in approximately one hundred large cities in the United States last year. In many places the game vies with golf in popularity, and at St. Petersburg, Fla., every winter the national horseshoe tournament is held. The secretary of the association has compiled an 80-page manual on pitching, which has done much to standardize the game.

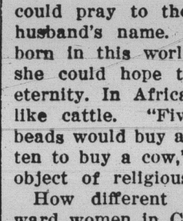
For Meditation

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

WOMEN AND CIVILIZATION

THE civilization of Egypt was the greatest of the ancient world. The wealthy classes were educated, but the schools placed a barrier against the education of the common classes. The main purpose of Egypt was to develop men. Women were relegated to obscurity, her rights and privileges being limited by the superstition of her age. The schools of Greece admitted any person except women and slaves. There was, however, a certain woman belonging to a definite class to whom was given all the cultural advantages of the times. No money was spared in her mental and physical development; but she was not the Christian mother of our day, but the notorious charlatan. In India every fifth girl was a widow. Twenty-five million of these widows resided in India, eighteen millions of whom were very little girls from five to nine years of age. Only six out of every thousand were educated. In India a husband could have as many wives as he was able to support. A wife could be divorced at the will of her husband. According to the Hindoo philosophy there was no place in the mental development of the age for women. "We all believe in the sanctity of the cow and in the depravity of women." Female babies were frequently murdered at birth. In India a woman could pray to the gods only in her husband's name. She had to be reborn in this world as a man before she could hope to have a place in eternity. In Africa women were sold like cattle. "Five large blue glass beads would buy a woman, but it took ten to buy a cow," the cow being the object of religious veneration.



L. A. Barrett.

How different is the attitude toward women in Christian civilization. The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. Motherhood is a most wonderful national blessing. The majority of those whose names are in the American Hall of Fame were children of Christian mothers. If America owes her greatness to any one thing more than another, it is the silent influence of her Christian motherhood. Paganism inevitably must perish because the Orient has no stabilizing power upon which to build her future. Civilization is fighting no losing battle, it is moving steadily forward and will ultimately dominate the world, because Christian mothers will continue to give to sons and daughters the power to decide between a "secular civilization whose God is science and an unselfish civilization whose God is love."

MINING TAXATION

During the last year there has been a great deal of discussion concerning taxation and regulation of the mining industry in the western states.

Proponents of higher taxes and more drastic regulatory laws hold that mining should pay a larger share of the state expenses, thus lifting some of the burdens borne by the farms and other businesses.

This argument lacks logic. In the great western states mining is the principal purchaser, employer and taxpayer. Every farmer and every businessman benefits directly or indirectly, from mining activity. If the mines progress and prosper the state progresses and prospers; if mining is retarded, the natural development of the state is retarded.

Legislation can't change economic law. Western mines are not making excessive profits. In many cases they are working low grade ore, a procedure which would no longer be possible if production costs increased because of higher taxes. The sole result of burdensome taxation would be to frighten away outside capital, to the everlasting detriment of the West.

Those who would unduly burden the mines with taxation would do well to remember the old fable about the straw that broke the camel's back.—Amador Dispatch.

SCHIFFNER GETS MENTION

(Nevada Mining Press)

Billy Degan, who rambles everywhere, was in Reno the first of the week from Nevada City, California, where he learned that Otto B. Schiffner ,superintendent for the Hoge Development Company there, had gone to the Woodland, California, hospital for an operation. Degan ran into Gordon Bettles at Nevada City, another old Nevada mine operator, who is in charge of lease operations of the Yellow Tiger in the old Champion mine. The Yellow Tiger was "whelped" at Goldfield and Bettles spent several years at that famous camp. Schiffner, during his Nevada career, was superintendent of the Simon Silver-Lead, A. A. Codd's Leadville mine north of Gerlach, and the Rescue-Eula at Tonopah, finally going to California for that company. At Leadville mine a truck ran away down a steep hill with him and busted him up.

SPECIAL MINING TAX

proluct turned out? Could not some of this school expense be eliminated? Labratory chemistory in high schools is expensive and should be passed on to the college. Students get only a smattering of such subjects and it is questionable if many of the instructors are chemists, or can even determine quantitatively the common elements in making a rock analysis. Many of the things taught in schools are of little economic value. They are culture that can be acquired by reading. The school work is required for mathematics, physics, oobk-keeping and commercial work. Foreign languages and English, business finance and business law should be taught, as such knowledge will be useful to every student later on in life. Most of us have had to learn such things by experience, which is the more expensive way. Yet, does any high school teach business law and business methods? Many of the things we studied in school were of but little use to us and could well have been omitted. High schools have taught aviation; others have tried to teach trades, hatmaking, automobile and aeroplane building and repairs, and many such things are taught in school at considerable expense for instruction and for materials. One school proposed to teach golf. Instruction in chess, poker or bridge would be as useful and entertaining. All such knowledge andtraining should be gained by students on their own time and at their own expense. It is well to teach the theory, but the learning of vocations and trades should be done out of public school.

Instructors should endeavor to get students to concentrate on their studies and to use their reasoning powers and to develop them so as not to learn by rote. Students who can reason and concentrate on their work can self-educate themselves and acquire any knowledge they desire.

All county school expenses should be authorized anl approved by the County Supervisors before the bills are paid. School superintendents and itinerant teachers may not be good business men and the business should be checked up. Superintendents and teachers who pay no local taxes are not likely to be as much interested in keeping down costs as are the taxpayers of the district. School teachers are more interested in having brilliant scholars get into Stanford or California than they are in local financial affairs.

Wages for teaching should be commensurate with what the individual would receive had he or she selected business for a life work. The hours of work, responsibility and experience are factors that should be considered. Most beginners no doubt receive more than they earn.

The voters and taxpayers of California should endeavor to curb these rising costs so that schooling may be kept down to a reasonable expense.

ALBION S. HOWE,
Chairman Amador County Chapter Mining Association of California.

CAP AND BELLS

FIRST THOUGHT

It was little Jacky's first experience in a train and the succession of wonders had reduced him to a state of astonishment.

When the locomotive plunged into a tunnel there came from his corner sundry grunts indicating dismay and suspicion. Then the train rushed into daylight again and a voice was lifted in profound thankfulness and wonder.

"Mamma! It's tomorrow."

Transferred the Attachment

Oldfriend—I expected to hear of your marriage before this. If I remember rightly there was quite an attachment between you and Miss Mainchance.

Lothario—That attachment's broken off. But she's suing me for breach of promise and put an attachment on my bank account.

Wonderful Self-Control

Mrs. Naggs—John, if I should die I don't believe you would know what to do.

Mr. Naggs—Well, perhaps I wouldn't, but I hardly believe I would feel as good as that, Jane.

AFTERNOON FOR HER

The Reporter — Early marriage doesn't appeal to you, then?

The Actress—Not at all. I've always found the afternoon a much better time.

Strictly Selfish

It is a sorry business line
That at misfortune jokes,
And says, "So long as I get mine,
Who cares for other folks?"

Exciting to Little Waldo

"Nurse," said the Boston mother to her governess, "little Waldo seems disturbed. Please don't tell him any more hobgoblin stories."

"I didn't, madam. I just mentioned that Bacon may have written some of Shakespeare's plays."

Scholarship

Seedy (reading)—Say, Hank, what's er haberdasher?

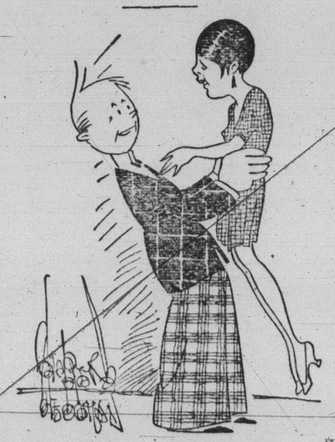
Hank—What, don't yer know wot er haberdasher is? Didn't yer have no learnin'? A haberdasher is er man wid a habit of dashin' about.

Plenty, Such as It Is

The Customer—That's a very small portion of kidney stew you're serving me.

The Waitress—Taste it once and you'll say you got more'n you want of it.

STRONG FOR HER



She—My! Aren't you strong.
He—Only for you.

The Fishes' Yell

What's the yell
Of a school of fish?
"Bubble, bubble,
Watch us swish!"

Adrift With Humor

LOST!

The dishevelled stranger made his way into the police station.

"Are you the sergeant in charge?" he asked.

"I am," replied the man in uniform, who was seated at a desk and writing in a large ledger.

"I'm lost," said the dishevelled man.

"You are—eh?" replied the sergeant. "Well, if you can prove that anybody's missing you, we'll take up the case."

Lucky Dog

James—I've always had great luck in love affairs.

Lucille—Why, what do you mean? Aren't you unmarried?

James—Yes, that's just where the luck comes in.

Not Local Colors

The Old One—Yes, this is a sunset painted by my daughter. She studied abroad several years.

The Young One—Ah, yes! I understand now—I can't remember having seen a sunset like that in our country.

Honest Toil

The Judge—What was the last bit of real work you did?

The Accused—Me? That was when I was a photographer's model at the police bureau of identification.

The Magician's Loss

Conjurer—Open your hand and you will see that I have changed your knife to a valuable gold watch. Now, wait a moment, and I will change it to a knife again.

Man—No! No! I like the watch better!—Pearson's.

A Grave Source of Danger

The Doctor—Young man, you should never marry.

The Patient—Then you think my ailment is incurable?

The Doctor—No. It's trifling. But you never can be cured of your habit of talking in your sleep.

Obstruction

You'll always find a faction
That is hard to understand,
Who criticizes action
When it ought to lend a hand.

Then and Now

She—Here is a picture of my grandmother. She was a great hand at spinning.

He—Oh, that reminds me, come take a spin in my new car.

A Safety Deposit

The Prestidigitateur — Ha, ha! Didn't know you had all that money in your whiskers, did you?

Mr. Longbrush—Yes, I did. I hid that money there so my wife wouldn't find it in my pockets—hand it over.

Inclined to Mercy

Mrs. Plainmug—I'd like to sit for my portrait. Think you'll do justice to my features?

Psmear, the Artist—Oh, lady! How could you think me so stern and hard as that?

HOW LONG MARRIED

"So you are married? For how long?"

"Well, let's see—for about six dresses, three hats and a half dozen crying fits."

Harsh Experience

A member I should hate to be
Of a grand jury clinic,
For what I learned might render me
Thenceforth a suffering cynic.

But They Love Touring

"Did you enjoy the scenery?"

"We missed the best of it" said Mrs. Chuggins. "Our new car travels so fast we had to give most of our attention to gas tanks and police stations."—Washington Star.

Back to Normalcy

Jake—Did Jones get married at last?

Lew—No; he told me he'd wait till times became more normal, and I think that by that time he will be more nor[illegible]

Los Angeles Chapter, the newest unit in the Mining Association of California, starts off with an initial membership of fifty on its charter roll. Walter Gordon Clark, 1211 Insurance Exchange Building, is chairman, Fred B. Church, vice chairman, and Edgar Bush secretary.

B. M. Snyder, who acted as secretary of the preliminary organization, is largely responsible for the success ful start of the new chapter. The organization goes after things in a typical Los Angeles way and proposes to secure a membership of 1000 which will make the efforts of some of the earlier chapters look rather puny.
